Top 4-H Horsemen To Compete At State Show

San Antonio — The top 4-H horsemen in Texas will be competing in the State 4-H Show at the Joe Freeman Coliseum here, July 28-29.

points out B. F. Teates, Extension horse specialist.

Immunization Program For Exported Stock

College Station — Exports of registered livestock from Texas to other parts of the world is one means of helping the balance of payments in the United States.

However, livestock moving into other countries should be immunized against certain diseases, points out Dr. James Armstrong, veterinarian with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The Extension Service through the county agents is assisting producers in this effort.

Keying in on such immunization programs is the Institute of Tropical Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M University.

Death losses running as high as 40 to 50 percent among cattle exported to Central and South American countries where Texas tick fever and anaplasmosis are prevalent are being reduced to almost none with a

Jerry Clower To Be TBA Convention Feature July 14-15

Corpus Christi — A "Learning and Fanning" convention and marketing seminar will be held by the Texas Brahman Association at the Padre Island Beach Hotel near here July 14 and 15.

It is hoped that answers to many questions will be given in the seminar. Some of the questions include: Do you want to learn more about profitable marketing of your cattle? Why are some breeders profitable while others with comparable cattle are unable to make it? Why do some breeders constantly obtain top prices for their cattle? What goes into a good advertising program, a good production sale?

TBA directors will meet Friday, July 14, at 10 a.m., and the "Learning seminar" will begin at 1:30 p.m. that day and run through Saturday morning, July 15.

Jerry Clower, nationally known on

McKellar Ranch Hosts June 24 Field Day

Mt. Pleasant, TX — Hot, sunny weather greeted visitors to the McKellar Ranch Field Day on June 24 in Mt. Pleasant.

An extensive tour of the ranch led off the field day with Dr. Leo McKellar, guiding the group and answering any questions that came up.

Following the tour, guests cooled off in the shade with barbeque and soft drinks.

Everyone then assembled in the bleachers to listen to Gene Neal, a Marshall, Texas, county extension agent and Dr. Jon Lowe, an area livestock specialist for the Louisiana extension service, speak about the advantages of Brahman hybrid cattle.

A panel led by county extension agent Dick McCarver of Mt. Pleasant then discussed their personal experience with hybrid-cross Brahman.

The panel consisted of Stay Mayo of Elginfield, Texas, and Mouson Tiller of Elginfield, Texas.

Tiller also won a Brahman hybrid heifer given away in a special drawing.

of Ft. Worth, three year; Gerald Meyerdirk of Jacksonville, two year and Dr. Jack Thompson of Palestine, two year.

Also discussed at the meeting was the upcoming Area Six sale in October to be held during the Pan American exhibition in Dallas, Texas.

If Ralco's Suppli-mix could save you 12 to 15% on your feed bills would you listen?

Like thousands of other cattlemen, Waldo Haythorn did:

"I've fed Suppli-mix for two years free choice to 6,000 head of cattle. We've cut our winter protein costs from $45,000 to $20,000. Also, I've been able to increase the cattle per section of pasture by 15%. To test Ralco Suppli-mix I split herds, one on it, one not. The Ralco herd had calves 40 lbs. heavier at 6 months, and the cows and heifers were much healthier."

- Non-toxic, safe at any reasonable level.
- Not a drug so no FDA restrictions apply. No forms, no withdrawal.

COSTS AS LITTLE AS 3¢ PER DAY OR 90¢ PER MONTH!

Here's how Suppli-mix works:

Unlike conventional feed additives, Ralco Suppli-mix has the ability to make essential amino acids more available than they would ordinarily be. In addition, Suppli-mix contains highly soluble cobalt, which is readily converted to vitamin B12 in the rumen. It's a fact that in order for propionic acid (the most efficient of the three volatile fatty acids) to be absorbed and utilized, vitamin B12 must be present. Ralco's special form of cobalt insured B12 is always there. The combined results are showing a 12 to 15% increase in feed efficiency on literally thousands of cattle in feed lots and pasturing situations.

TEXAS RED ANGUS NEWS

E. T. Goodman Successful in Selling Red Angus Bulls to Commercial Cowmen

Kerens, Texas — E. T. Goodman says "my Red Angus Bulls" progeny are the best salesmen. When a commercial cowman comes to look at bulls, the first thing I show him are some run-of-the-mill commercial cows with big, fat calves sired by Red Angus bulls on them and he's sold on Red Angus bulls. Selling registered Red Angus bulls to commercial cattlemen at about twice what commercial bulls would bring in a sale ring, and replacement heifers to other registered Red Angus breeders and junior showmen are the mainstays of E. T. and Eva Goodman's Red Angus operation.

Most of Goodman's bull buyers are repeat customers who were pleased with the results from the first Red Angus bulls they bought from him.

"Many of our bulls are spoken for before they are weaned, and nearly all sell as soon as they are weaned. That way, the bull buyer gets an animal he can afford to put with his commercial cows, and I get the bull sold before having a big feed bill tied up in him," Goodman said.

Success of his sales program is attested to by the fact that Goodman is presently "sold out" of both bulls and heifers.

But building a successful sales program wasn't simple.

The Goodmans, both natives of Dallas, are a working partnership in the Red Angus ranching operation. He's retired after 27 years as an office manager for B. F. Goodrich. They bought their 300 acres of land near Kerens in 1963 as an investment, and some neighbors told them they needed some cattle to keep the grass grazed, so they bought commercial Herefords. Their neighbors also told them of the added weaning weight and double bonus of two to three cents per pound they could get with Black Baldy calves by using Angus bulls.

"But we liked the red color, and when we found that Red Angus were available, we bought a registered bull and some heifers from Jim McNeill at Edgewood, who we believe to have one of the best Red Angus herds in this area," Goodman said.

Ed T. Goodman, who professes to being more fisherman than cow person, gets her share of helping tend the Red Angus on the Triple E Ranch at Kerens.

Since then they've followed a program of building quality into their herd by buying some of the best bulls available, such as a son of Choclat 373, whose sons have a growth rate 28 percent higher than the other seven bulls on the Red Angus Association of America's computer system. One of their more recent purchases is PBC DO 202 AM JO 848, a son of the famous DO 202, purchased from Wick Corners of Wilson Farms at Gallatin, Tenn., after the bull had been judged reserve grand champion of the 1977 Tennessee-Kentucky show and sale.

Most of the Goodman's adult cows are descended from Rebel 806, and they now have a bull calf by RC Larkabaling J 121 X out of a son of the famous J 121 X.

Although they are not in the primary business of breeding show calves, some of their heifers purchased by 4-H and FFA youngsters have done well. One placed third in the 1978 Houston Livestock Show, competing in the Black Angus show.

Building the Red Angus brood along with the quality of their own herd claims much of Goodman's time and energy. He is a director of Texas Red Angus Association, who is actively helping promote and publicize Red Angus. Goodman serves on the highest committee and Eva on the Reception and correspondence committees of the association.

Goodman points to more active participation in shows at all levels and the Red Angus bull test at Navarro College in Corsicana that will be concluded this fall as early next year as indications that Red Angus activities are on the increase.

There is really nothing spectacular about a cow cycling regularly, breeding normally, giving birth to a thrifty healthy calf, producing enough milk to raise and wean that calf at a profit and all the while is able to maintain her own condition and repeat the process again and again.

For the Red Angus cow that is not spectacular. She was designed to be "efficient" and she is. This is why she is known as the Big Red Workin' Mamma.

AMERICAN RED BRANGUS ASSOCIATION NEWS

Red Brangus...

Made in U. S. A.

By JOHN BOSNOWY

At this time each year we take time out from our every-day chores on July 4th to celebrate the Anniversary of the founding of these United States of America, the greatest country in the history of the world. As we reflect on these 202 years of growth and accomplishments it is mind-boggling to think of all the technological advances and tremendous products made here in the United States for the benefit of people all around the world. And if you're anything like me, all things being equal, you still prefer that "Made in U. S. A." label on the product you buy!

Oh, I'll admit I've tried a foreign car myself — and I'm sure many of you have tried one of these exotic foreign cars — but has it really done the job for you? My foreign car hasn't, and from now on mine will be American made again.

Fortunately for me, when it comes to cattle, I didn't have to learn the hard way. I stayed with a true American breed — Red Brangus. Here's why: the Red Brangus breed is not only "Made in U. S. A." it is "Made in Texas, by Texans, for Texans." The birth of the Red Brangus breed took place near Spicewood, Texas, where Mike Levi continues a crossbreeding program begun by his father. The breed was developed by crossing superior cattle of purebred Brahman and Angus and then interbreeding these crosses.

Officially, the breed dates back to 1946. Incidentally, the first Red Brangus cow born that year had weaned her 16th calf by 1964. Almost all breeds boast about the longevity of their cattle, but few can match the average retirement age of Red Brangus.

In addition to longevity and high gainability on pasture, Red Brangus yield a quality of meat second to none.

This is documented by the presence of two Certified Meat Sires in the Red Brangus breed almost 10 years before any other American breed achieved a single CMS.

And when it gets hot and dry in Texas in July as it is now, a home-grown breed just naturally does better. It was bred for heat tolerance and disease resistance. Now is a great time to see what kind of cattle are the real profit-producers. Almost any old cow does fairly well on lush pastures with moderate temperatures. But only the good, thrifty, adaptable kind of cattle like Red Brangus will come through the drought with flying colors.

Demand real performance, demand Red Brangus... a better American breed!!!

Veterinarian Bobby Daggs Likes Red Brangus for More than Usual Reasons

Burleson, Texas — Bobby Daggs, when asked why he chose Red Brangus when he decided to get into the registered cattle business, sounds like he's reading from the publicly manual on the breed: "Because they are more fertile, breed younger and live longer productive lives; because they have relatively small, easy-calving calves naturally right out in the pasture without assistance; are fast growing and heavy at weaning time; are docile and easy to handle and don't tear up fences and handling equipment; have a high tolerance for heat and cold weather extremes, and high resistance to disease and parasites; and produce good, palatable meat — and lots of it."

Daggs may like those traits in Red Brangus for more than the normal reasons of many other cattlemen — he's a practicing veterinarian in Fort Worth. "And I just don't enjoy practicing medicine on my own cattle, or bearing the expense of losing cows and calves at calving, or because the weather got too hot or cold," he said. Daggs was raised on a Central Texas farm where his father had commercial (CONT. ON PAGE 9)

Bobby and Carol Daggs are shown with their chestnut Red Brangus herd sire purchased from Oakway Farms near Cameron a couple of years ago when the Daggs started turning from commercial Brahman crosses to Red Brangus.

Bobby Daggs

Brahman cross cattle when Bobby was a child, and Bobby had Brahman cross cattle for about 20 years before starting to go to straight Red Brangus a couple of years ago because he wanted cattle with more uniformity of color and were easier to work with than his commercial Brahman crosses.

Since he is a successful practicing veterinarian, and needed cattle only to utilize the small acreage of Coastal Bermuda on his place near Burleson, and had room for only a small herd on the Central Texas place at Mount Calm, he admits that getting into Red Brangus was more of a hobby than a serious effort at making the cattle make his living for him.

Having been in the Red Brangus only two years, Daggs has had only limited experience in selling Red Brangus, but did sell five bulls last year, and will have about 10 bulls to sell this year. "I could have sold twice as many last year, and most of this year's crop are already spoken for as soon as they are weaned," he said.

Western Heritage Sale Features Best In Horses, Santa Gertrudis Cattle, Art Includes Russell, Remington Works

The 1978 Western Heritage Sale set for the evening of July 15, in the Grand Ballroom of Houston's Shamrock Hilton Hotel, will bring together an outstanding collection of Santa Gertrudis cattle and Quarter Horses to sell at auction, along with 32 pieces of art representing America's foremost western artists.

The spectacular black tie affair is expected to attract over 1,100 invited guests and celebrities. The evening's festivities will include cocktails, dinner and the sale of twenty Santa Gertrudis cattle, twenty-one Quarter Horses and twenty-two pieces of art in various mediums.

In addition to the twenty-two auction pieces, art enthusiasts will have an opportunity during the evening to purchase seven select pieces of art. These will include one watercolor and one bronze by C. M. Russell, an oil painting by Frederick Remington, two oils by Olaf Carl Selmer, a pen and ink by E. William Collins and an oil painting by Frank Tenney Johnson.

Sponsors of the sale are former Texas Governor and Santa Gertrudis breeder John Connally, Texas businessman and Santa Gertrudis breeder Joe Marchman, Houston civic leader and Quarter Horse breeder Louis M. Pearce, Jr., oilman and Quarter Horse breeder Rex C. Canble, leather goods tycoon John S. Justin, Jr., and the National Cowboy Hall of Fame.

The animals represent their industries' leading bloodlines and are assigned by many of the premier ranching families in the Southwest and United States.

Many of the artists consigning pieces are expected to be in attendance and include such well-known names as Jim Rine, Lajos Markos, Melvin Warren, Robert Summers and Wilson Hurley.

The name "Western Heritage Sale" was chosen because all three components — the cattle who provided the first major industry as the West was settled, the horses who were the mainstay of Western life, and the Western art that preserved and chronicled the West from the past to the present — all represent a vital part of the true Western Heritage.

There's good reason why the Brangus female is America's Number 1 brood cow — she consistently raises calves that make profits for cattlemen!

Experimenting with different breeds and crosses, cattlemen found the 3/8 Brahman — 5/8 Angus combination to be the perfect heritage for a profitable brood cow.

Brangus females are highly fertile and mature early, calving as 2-year-olds with no difficulties, traits inherited from their Angus forebears. They get longevity and easy calving from their Brahman ancestry, and excellent milking ability from both breeds. Together, these traits make the ideal mother cow.

Calves produced by Brangus mothers wean 75 to 100 lbs heavier than other breeds. They are hardy good-doers that gain quickly on feed or forage. But more important, Brangus calves are preferred by stockers, feeders, packers, and consumers alike. They give you the most pounds of high quality meat at the lowest possible cost, and at the same time bring top dollar at the stockyards and in the supermarket.

Hardy! Adaptable! Profitable! BRANGUS! The cow you've been waiting for.

Solid, practical research proves again: Angus are the world's most efficient cattle.
What a bull! Big, powerful, prepotent! Research proves he has the genetic authority to produce more profit-making calves from your herd, in shorter time with less labor.
Yes, results of solid research on 2,368 calves born at the U.S. Meat Research Center show: "3-year-old cows bred to Angus bulls had only 3% calving problems, compared to 6% bred to Hereford bulls and 10% to 27% bred to exotic bulls."
And... "Calves from Angus dams were 22 pounds heavier at weaning, and 20 pounds heavier at 400 days, than those from Hereford dams."
Ohio State practical research shows: "8 more calves per 100 cows by crossing with an Angus bull."

Base your breeding and germ plasm decisions on facts that are accurate and credible—research-proven facts like "fewer calving troubles"—"more calves weaned from your cow herd"—"bigger calves at 400 days"—"no horn problems."
Many progressive Angus breeders have accurate Angus Herd Improvement Records (AHIR) to help you select proven and productive foundation stock that will be more efficient—more profitable for you.
Why not breed your herd Black—for more efficiency—more money? Research proves you can.

SBA Opens Additional Drought Loan Offices For Texas Farmers
eligible for drought disaster loans" said Chacon. The disaster offices will be located in Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Harlingen, Lubbock, Temple, Laredo, Amarillo, Pecos, Marshall, and Abilene. Each office will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 4:50 p.m. daily, Monday thru Friday.
SBA Disaster Managers are recommending that the farmers come in person to pick up an application and then return it in person. This assures that the application is complete, which in turn expedites processing of the loan.
The following information should be submitted with applications for drought loan assistance:
(1) A copy of the legal description of land, i.e., deed, mortgage, real estate contract, etc. (if real estate is to be offered as security).
(2) Copies of tax records. The applicant should keep the originals as file copies.
(3) A copy of the latest ABCS Notice (Form 478) for allotments and yields.
(4) If claiming a loss on pasture, indicate type of pasture (timber, blue grass, good improved, or excellent improved) and the number of months of normal grazing and pasture produced.
(5) If land is rented crop share, indicate percentage division (i.e., 80/20, 60/40, etc.) and list only your share among the share of the acres.
Chacon explained that there are other items required if the applicant is in a partnership or corporation, which is another reason why coming in person to the offices to initiate the loan application is recommended.
The Physical Disaster Loan Program for farmers was established under the production costs on 1977 crops at 8% for the first $250,000 and 6 5/8% thereafter. The following counties in and around Dallas, Houston, and San Antonio which are eligible for the drought program are:
Dallas, Rockwall, Hunt, Denton, Ellis, Navarro, Wood, Wise, Clay, Hood, Erath, Hill, Wilbarger, Throckmorton, Grayson, Cooke, Archer, Tarrant, Kaufman, Collin, Lamar, Johnson, Henderson, Montague, Jack, Parker, Palo Pinto, Bosque, Comanche, Baylor, Stephens, Fannin, Wichita, Young, Harrison, Marion, Griggs, Rust, Shelby, Cherokee, Smith, Morris, Titus, Cass, Franklin, Red River, Delta, Hopkins, Anglin, San Augustine, Camp, Sumner, Falls, Trinity, Rains, Freestone, Bowie, Anderson, Van Zandt, Upshur, and Neacogdoches.
Farmers in those counties may use any of the following offices: Dallas Disaster Office, Room 3C36, 1100 Commerce Street, Dallas, Texas 75248. Abilene Disaster Office, County Judge's Office, 2nd Floor, 300 Oak Street, Abilene, Texas 79602. Lubbock Disaster Office, 1208 Texas Avenue, Room 422B, Lubbock, Texas 79401. Marshall Disaster Office, U. S. Courthouse, 100 South Washington, Marshall, Texas 75670. Temple Disaster Office, 2 North 5th Street, Post Office Box 168, Temple, Texas 76701.
